

- A long-term goal of CERN is to establish a pro-active approach towards eliminating the computer security risk created by “abandoned computer accounts”.
- The request by ACCU that people no longer registered as CERN users keep their accounts cannot be accepted for legal/liability reasons.
- The new leaders at HR (Vince Hatton) and Users Office (Chris Onions) are reviewing the whole situation of registering users and how to eliminate the need for physical presence at CERN and will take the issue of computer usage into account.
- ACCU and other relevant committees will be briefed whenever a draft policy is elaborated.
- For the time being, IT will continue as today, only closing accounts under extreme circumstances and after substantial personal efforts to contact the user or people who should know the user.
